VERO VELLINI – A SLING FOR EVERY RIFLE

You only use your rifle for a brief moment, but you carry it the whole day. A top-quality sling will make a rifle “carry” several pounds lighter, allowing the hunter to be better prepared to make a shot. Most hunters know that it is not the weight of the rifle that makes it feel heavy in the field; rather it is the constant up, down and side to side shock generated while walking or climbing.

Vero Vellini rifle slings are designed to absorb that extra shock. By using only the highest quality components and construction methods, Vero Vellini also makes a sling that looks as good as it functions.

Pioneers of the neoprene sling, Vero Vellini sets itself apart with its three-layer Air-Cushion neoprene sandwich construction that makes a sling comfortable, but not bouncy. The neoprene, combined with other flexible materials, means a sling that will stretch slightly with every step and absorb the shock generated by walking or hiking.

With leather trim and stitched edges, these slings truly complement the finest rifles and shotguns. Choose from many models, including the standard Air-Cushion rifle sling, the Wide-Top model that offers even more comfort and a sure, shoulder grip with its 3-1/2-inch width at the shoulder where it counts or the Quick Attach Slings with QD swivels supplied. Vero Vellini also offers several models in 1000 denier Cordura® camouflage patterns.

Vero Vellini's standard Air-Cushion neoprene rifle sling fits 1-inch swivels and is available in black, forest green, brown, safety orange, as well as Advantage Classic®. The Wide-Top rifle sling, also for 1-inch swivels, is available in forest green, black, Advantage Classic®, Advantage Timber®, Advantage Max-4®, REALTREE X-TRA® Brown and REALTREE Hardwoods®. The Tactical Rifle sling features black webbing with black side edging. The Classic Rifle sling is available in Forest Green with brown leather side edging to match the leather end panels. Shotgun only slings, with slip-proof loops on both ends, are available in black, forest green, brown and safety orange.

New Quick Attach Rifle/Shotgun Slings feature QD swivels on both stock and forend of sling. Available in standard and Wide-Top in Black and Advantage Timber®
