

HIGH CLIMBING RIFLE SLING FROM VERO VELLINI

When you're hunting, and must have both arms free for climbing hills, trees, mountains or carrying gear, you'll need a rifle-carry, sling system that will help you do that safely. The new "High Climbing Double Sling" from Vero Vellini will help you accomplish that and move with ease and confidence. Made of the highest quality materials and workmanship in Germany, this new Climbing Double Sling is modeled after the Biathlon Rifle Slings used in Olympic Winter Competition where in a competitor, on cross country skis, must ski and carry a heavy target rifle between firing points quickly, safely and fire for score accurately at each point.

The new double sling can also be used in hunting and shooting to help support both arms, by looping the sling behind the elbows, to more firmly hold the rifle stock for better support when taking an off hand shot and no suitable rest is available.

The "High Climbing Double Sling" is available in Forrest Green with Dark Brown trim and is fully adjustable to meet a variety of body sizes and clothing usage.
